COP_{HP} Heat Pump Coefficient of Performance. 4

Notation

Latin Letters

A Cross-sectional area [m^2]. 4

a Total surface area per unit length [m]. 4

C_D Drag coefficient [ ]. 4

Greek Letters

γ Adiabatic index $\frac{c_p}{c_V}$ [J kg^{-1} K^{-1}/(J kg^{-1} K^{-1})]. 4

Subscripts

$_p$ Related to the pump. 4

$_v$ Vapour. 4

Rates and Ratios

Eu Euler number $\Delta P/(\rho_v u_v^2)$, where ΔP is the pressure difference between the absorber and the evaporator. 4

$\dot{m}$ Mass flow rate [kg s^{-1}]. 4

$u_{v/s}$ Slip ratio $\frac{u_v}{u_s}$. 4

A Chapter

Contents

Present the chapter content.

2.1 Section A

2.1.1 Subsection A

This would be a citation [1].

The Coefficient of Performance (COP) defines the performance of the machine.

Heat Pump's performance is given by the Heat Pump Coefficient of Performance (COP_{HP}), a COP for heat pumps.

Now, an example on notation: Eu and $u_{v/s}$. Also C_D.

As seen in [2]. Enfatizar

2.1.2 Subsection B

Figure 2.1: Dummy Figure Caption.

Remember you can change the reference style. Another dummy citation [3].

2.2 Section B

2.2.1 Subsection A

The model described can also be represented as $$\dot{\mathbf{x}}(t) = \mathbf{T}\mathbf{z}(y), \; \mathbf{y}(0) = \mathbf{y}_0, \; z \geq 0 \tag{2.1}$$

where

$$\mathbf{A} = \begin{bmatrix} -(a_{12} + a_{10}) & a_{21} \\ a_{12} & -(a_{21} + a_{20}) \end{bmatrix}, \; \mathbf{x} = \begin{bmatrix} x_1 \\ x_2 \end{bmatrix} \tag{2.2}$$

Also, using glossaries in the math environment, you can write

$$A = \frac{\dot{m}_v}{\rho u} \tag{2.3}$$

Note that A is not a.

2.2.2 Subsection B

Another example for the notation section: think about γ. And γ_p with a subscript.
